

Invitation to Atheists

The Church of Reality extends an invitation to Atheists to join our religion. Atheism is a first step, but why not go the rest of the way? Now that you have stopped living the lie, we want to welcome you to the real world.

Realism is taking it to the next level. Realism is about what you do believe in, not about what you don't believe in. Realism is about exploring reality and creating the kind of world that we all want to live in. We make the Sacred Choices to commit ourselves to the Sacred Principles and to dedicate our lives to the Sacred Question: what is real? We are explorers not followers. And this religion creates a religious identity for what you already believe in.

It is our hope that if you became an Atheist because you realized God wasn't real, that you can find a community here to join in your quest in exploring what is real. And in that spirit we extend to you our welcome.
