

The Right to use Knowledge

- No person shall be denied the right to fair use of intellectual property, nor punished unreasonably for violations of copyright laws, or punished for innocent infractions of intellectual property rights.
- No person shall be denied the use of intellectual property through unreasonably long patent and copyright protection.
- The right of reverse engineering shall be preserved