

The AH-HA Moment

The AH-HA moment is the moment that the idea of the Church of Reality really sinks in. You're reading about reality, you think reality is a good idea, you like the idea of realism but you're still wondering, "What is the point of having a Church of Reality?"

Then all of a sudden something inside you yells "YES! Ah-ha! That's it! Reality! Of course! I get it! It's so obvious." It all comes together. It all makes sense. When you say to yourself that "Yes, I am a Realist! I am going to make the pursuit of reality my {In:Life Story}." When this happens you have had the ah-ha moment and your ready to put {In:Reality First} by {In:Accepting Reality}.
