

So - what's with Jesus?

So - this guy Jesus comes along and he's God's son. He was born to a virgin ..... hmmm ... yeah right! OK - Let's just assume that God can do anything and that he can reproduce through a human virgin. I'll just give them that one. But - why? What's the point?

Think about it. God - infinitely powerful - created the entire universe with trillions of stars - (although some believe that scientists have never actually proved that stars exist.) - this God goes to this tiny little planet and finds him a virgin to have a son with. And - she had to be a virgin because our method of reproduction is dirty. And - although God is male - he certainly doesn't use his penis for that sort of thing. So - God reproduces with human females and he has this son Jesus who starts a carpentry business. Then he goes out and performs a few miracles and is crucified on Friday - or was it Saturday? Then he comes back from the dead three days later. on Easter Sunday. A miracle in itself! You can't kill God you see. At least - you can't kill God for more than three days. That's the rule.

So Jesus dies for our sins. God has to allow his son to be killed because God does a human sacrifice for us to prove he loves us. Hmmm ... talk about a Jewish guilt trip! So - now it's all about faith and what you believe or don't believe - and if you don't believe this - you're going to burn in Hell forever after you're dead. It raises an interesting question. How much do you have to scare a person to get them to believe in something that's totally ridiculous? That is the real question here!
